"Growing & Learning Together" is the theme of this year's event.

Each group will be provided with a table for an interactive and informative exhibit. There will also be performances, demonstrations and workshops held throughout the day, should your group be interested in performing as well.

Please take into consideration when planning your booth display or activity that OISS will be offering some in-kind support by way of photocopying and up to $50 for booth/activity materials (by way of reimbursement, so save your receipts; this money is to go strictly to material costs for your booth – no capital items for your group may be purchased with this money). Please feel free to contact us if you have any questions or concerns.

We look forward to having you be a part of CommUniversity Day and International Cultural Festival.

Please complete the information requested below and email by April 1:
