

When Universities Go Offshore: Challenges, Problems, and Consequences

November 29, 5pm
WLH 309, 100 Wall Street

Andrew Ross

New York University
Andrew Ross is a Professor of Social and Cultural Analysis at NYU. A contributor to the Nation, the Village Voice, and Artforum, he is the author of many books, including Nice Work if You Can Get It, Fast Boat to China, Low Pay, High Profile, No-Collar, and The Celebration Chronicles.

The Global Gay American Abroad: U.S.-Sponsored Development, International Education, and LGBT Human Rights

Wednesday, December 7, 12 pm
WLH 309

Liz Montegary

Yale University
Liz Montegary recently received her Ph.D. in Cultural Studies, with designated emphases in Critical Theory and Feminist Theory and Research, from the University of California, Davis. Her dissertation, "Queer Mobilizations: The Transnational Circuits of U.S. Lesbian and Gay Politics," examines the history of lesbian and gay travel during the twentieth century in order to illustrate how global networks of exchange have shaped lesbian and gay activism in the U.S. Her current research interests include feminist, queer, and postcolonial theory; transnational American studies; gender, militarization, and war; histories of travel and tourism; and mobility, dis/ability, and the body.

The Queer Dilemmas of Global Education in Singapore

Friday, December 9, 5pm
10 Sachem Street
Department of Anthropology

Eng-Beng Lim

Brown University
Eng-Beng Lim is Assistant Professor in the Department of Theatre Arts and Performance Studies at Brown University. He specializes in theater, drama and performance studies with a focus on transnational, Asian and queer issues. His teaching and research areas include critical and performance theory, queer and racial performance, and international drama.

LGBTS Speaker Series 2011–12

From Abu Dhabi to Singapore LGBT Rights and the Globalizing Academy

NYU goes to Abu Dhabi.
Yale goes to Singapore.
Where do LGBT people go?

The LGBT Studies Program at Yale is sponsoring a year-long lecture series on question of what does or should happen when Western institutions establish programs or branch campuses around the world, including countries where homosexuality is illegal. We invite Yale students, faculty and administrators to come and debate the issues with us.

Yale LGBTS

The LGBTS Speakers Series is organized by the Program of Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, and Transgender Studies at Yale with support from the Edward J. and Dorothy Kempf Memorial Fund.