

The FAE Colloquium
Kroon 108
195 Prospect Street
New Haven, CT 06511

Yale University • Spring 2010

Colloquium on Food, Agriculture, and the Environment

Colloquium on Food, Agriculture, and the Environment

The colloquium aims to promote interdisciplinary dialogue among faculty, students, staff, and the general public on current research and contemporary challenges regarding food, agriculture and the environment, and the interconnections among them. <http://environment.research.yale.edu/calendar/events/series/4376/>

Meetings are Wednesdays, 4:30pm–6pm

Yale School of Forestry & Environmental Studies

Burke Auditorium of Kroon Hall, 195 Prospect Street

January 27	John P. Wargo Professor of Environmental Risk Analysis and Policy, Professor of Political Science, Yale School of Forestry & Environmental Studies Green Intelligence for a Healthy Diet
February 3	Melina Shannon-DiPietro Director, Yale Sustainable Food Project What's for Dinner? American Agriculture and the Sustainable Food Movement
February 10	Don Worster Joyce and Elizabeth Hall Professor of U.S. History, Environmental Studies, Department of History, University of Kansas Strachan Donnelley Distinguished Visiting Scholar, Yale School of Forestry & Environmental Studies America's Breadbasket in the Age of Climate Change
February 17*	Durland Fish Professor, Yale School of Public Health Director, Yale Institute for Biospheric Studies Center for EcoEpidemiology Environmental Infectious Diseases: An Interdisciplinary Dilemma
February 24	Kelly D. Brownell Professor of Epidemiology and Public Health, Yale Department of Psychology Director, The Rudd Center for Food Policy and Obesity World Obesity, Hunger and the Environmental Impact of Food
March 3	Matthew García Associate Professor of American Civilization, Ethnic Studies, and History, Brown University Resident Program Fellow, Yale Program in Agrarian Studies Bittersweet Harvest: The United Farmworkers' Grape Boycott, Agricultural Labor, and the Shift Towards Consumer-based Politics
March 24	Maria Trumpler Senior Lecturer, Women's, Gender, & Sexuality Studies Program at Yale Director, Yale Office of LGBTQ Resources Women, Food, and Culture
March 31	Melinda Smith Assistant Professor of Ecology and Evolutionary Biology, Yale Department of Ecology and Evolutionary Biology Climate Change Impact on C₄ Grasslands
April 7	James Scott Sterling Professor of Political Science and Professor of Anthropology, Yale Department of Political Science Director, Agrarian Studies Program The Domestication of Plants, Animals, and Fire and the Melancholy Consequences following Therefrom
April 14	Pamela Martin Assistant Professor, Department of the Geophysical Sciences, The University of Chicago Feeding the City
April 21	Panel Discussion Research and Teaching Challenges: Food, Agriculture and the Environment

Co-sponsors: Yale School of Forestry & Environmental Studies, Yale Program in Agrarian Studies, The Rudd Center for Food Policy and Obesity, and the Yale Sustainable Food Project.

* February 17 meeting location TBA.

 March 24 meeting location will be at Bowers Auditorium of Sage Hall, 205 Prospect Street.