

Synapse Medical Communications LLC is a privately held company based in New York City that is a best-in-class organization dedicated to the design and execution of creative and compelling medical communications initiatives. Guided by unique strategic insight, medical acumen, innovation, and client service, Synapse specializes in a broad range of health care marketing and communication services.

We are currently seeking several Scientific/Medical Directors to join our Medical Affairs team.

The Scientific/Medical Director's primary purpose is to develop comprehensive, integrated, strategic promotional medical education campaigns for any given therapeutic category. You will be expected to consistently develop highly credible clinical content and oversee scientific content for the full range of medical education programs. In addition, you will be expected to work closely with all levels of staff in Medical, Scientific and Account Services to ensure the clinical quality and message integrity of all content. Must be prepared to lead discussions with clients, KOL's and internal team members regarding strategic planning and content development and demonstrate a high level of comfort articulating tactical recommendations, as well as clinical and therapeutic information, for multiple clients and in multiple therapeutic categories.

To be considered for the role of Scientific/Medical Director at Synapse Medical Communications, one must hold a PhD, MD or PharmD degree and have 2-5 years of experience preferably in the Healthcare Advertising, Medical Education or Pharmaceutical Medical Affairs Industry. Candidates must have significant project and people management experience and be able to demonstrate a firm understanding of the medical education program life cycle from conception through implementation, specifically as it relates to clinical and therapeutic content. Successful candidates will have experience in either promotional medical education (advisory boards, KOL advocacy development and influence mapping, speaker training, publication planning, and field force medical education).

To be considered for the role of a Sr. Scientific/Medical Director at Synapse Medical Communications, one must hold a PhD, MD or PharmD degree and have 5+ years of experience in Medical Education or Pharmaceutical Medical Affairs plus management experience across several therapeutic areas. Oncology experience is a plus.

We offer highly competitive wages and excellent benefits, including comprehensive health insurance, 401(k) and profit sharing. Interested candidates should visit our web site at www.synapseny.com or send your resume and cover letter to medcareers@synapseny.com.